

CHILE SERVES FORMAL NOTICE

That She Will Quit League If It Takes Up Territorial Dispute With Bolivia—Canada Determined In Its Fight To Kill Article X, Although Assembly Rejects Its Amendments.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Geneva, Sept. 7.—Senor Edwards, head of the Chilean delegation to the League of Nations meeting, today served formal notice upon the League assembly that Chile will withdraw from the league if the demands of Bolivia are accepted.

The Chilean envoy said that his country held that the League of Nations assembly as not competent to revise the treaty of 1904 between Chile and Bolivia.

(Note—The so-called Tacna-Arica dispute between Chile and Bolivia concerns territory. Bolivia has no outlet to the Pacific and claimed territory at the extreme northern end of Chile between the cities of Tacna and Arica. Under the treaty in question Chile retained the disputed ground but allowed Bolivia free transport to the sea.)

The dispute was referred to the League of Nations by Bolivia and the Bolivian delegation demanded a revision of the treaty along with recognition of the Bolivian demands. "If the assembly accepts the demands of Bolivia, then Chile can no longer participate in the activities of this assembly," said Senor Edwards. "If the League considers revision of the Bolivian treaty Germany may later demand revision of the treaty of Versailles. I ask that the assembly take an immediate vote upon this matter."

Senior Edwards denied that Bolivia is completely cut off from the sea.

"Chile allows Bolivia to make shipments to and from the sea," said the Chilean delegate. "Chile even allows munitions to pass which may be used against our own country later. I appeal to Bolivia to withdraw her demand."

Senor Aramayo, head of the Bolivian delegation, in replying to Senor Edwards, said there could be no hope of lasting peace in South America if the present Bolivian-Chilean treaty stands. He moved that the Bolivian demands be sent to a committee for examination before any vote was taken.

The Bolivian envoy was successful in obtaining delay. The assembly decided to postpone further discussion of the South American dispute until it could be studied at greater length with the understanding, however, that a definite decision be reached before the assembly adjourns. Both sides agreed to this.

Canada is determined to press her fight for the elimination of Article X of the League of Nations covenant. This was revealed by Minister of Justice Doherty, of the Canadian cabinet, and head of the Canadian delegation.

"Canada is going to stand by her own guns," said Mr. Doherty. "She will reiterate her demand that the League kill Article X. If the assembly votes serious for us. Frankly I do not know what the Canadian parliament will do."

ing the announcement that the special committee of the assembly had rejected the amendment proposed by Canada last year killing Article X. The committee recommended that the article in question stand, but with modifications by the present session of the assembly.

Asked if there was any possibility of Canada withdrawing from the league. Mr. Doherty said: "That is a thing that cannot be discussed. Canada's objections to Article X are equally strong and perhaps stronger than those of the United States. Parliament only voted to enter the league hoping that we would succeed in killing Article X, and making other changes in the covenant."

article in question should be retained—both from French sources. The first is that France does not want the covenant disturbed because the treaty of Versailles is interwoven so closely with it. Second, if the article

BERGER WANTS $500 FOR SLIDE

Down Spruce Street Embankment With His Automobile Recently, But His Claim Was Referred—Many Streets and Lights Talked Over by Aldermen.

A few weeks ago John H. Berger of 56 Hudson street had a thrilling experience with his new Volvo touring car when it went down the steep embankment leading from Spruce street to Abel street and crashed into a house on Abel street. Mr. Berger believes that the city was negligent in not putting up guard rails along the top of the embankment on Spruce street, and that if the rails had been there his car would not have slid down the hill. For that reason he has filed a claim for $500 damages against the city, which was read at the meeting of the common council Tuesday evening and referred to the laws and rules committee and corporation counsel Mr. Berger is represented by the law firm of Van Etten & Cook.

The aldermen introduced enough resolutions calling for repairs to various city streets to keep the street department, which has been recently enlarged to about two hundred employees, busy for some time to come. The following resolutions were introduced:

By Alderman Machold—That incandescent light that was removed from in front of 27 Brewster street, be replaced. To board of public works.

By Alderman Machold—That electric light pole in front of Mathew Dunbar's residence be moved, as it interfered with his driveway. To board of public works.

By Alderman Lemister—That catch basin at Delaware and Third avenues be cleaned. To board of public works.

By Alderman Lemister—That arc light be placed at Hasbrouck avenue and Hasbrouck Place. To board of public works.

By Alderman Parish—That some action be taken towards installing the new lights in the Sixth ward that the board of public works decided should be done some time ago, but which still remains undone. Referred to that board.

By Alderman Martin—That street superintendent fill holes in Hurley avenue. To board of public works.

By Alderman Leverich—That holes and ruts in Aruyn street be filled. To board of public works.

By Alderman Leverich—That trees and bushes on Yoemans street be cut down where they overhang the street. To board of public works.

By Alderman Leverich—That Catherine street be topdressed and rolled. To board of public works.

By Alderman Kitchner—That Ravine street be repaired. To board of public works.

By Alderman Martin—That Holland avenue be repaired. To board of public works.

Want Boulder Avenue Repaired. A petition was read from residents of Boulder avenue requesting that water main be extended through that avenue, and that the street be given a grade by the city engineer.

Alderman Martin said that street was in his ward, and that several of the property owners were building houses on it, and more houses would be started this year if they were assured that they would be given water. He offered a resolution that the council recommend to the water board that the request to extend the water service be granted, which was adopted.

More Street Work.

The following resolutions were also referred to public works board:

By Alderman Machold—that west end of Staples street be fixed so that wagons could drive up to the houses there. To board of public works.

By Alderman Kullman—that a frosted globe be placed on arc light at Rogers and Wurts street. To board of public works.

By Alderman Myers—that Wilber avenue be repaired between Henry street and Greenkill avenue.

By Alderman Myers—that Greenkill avenue be repaired between Clinton avenue and Wall street.

By Alderman Myers—that Wall street be repaired from Wallkill Valley tracks to Henry street.

By Alderman Schick—that an arc light be placed on Hasbrouck avenue in front of residence of Joel C. Allston, and present two incandescent lights be removed.

By Alderman Schick—that an incandescent light be placed on Tubbs street in front of the Barth residence, and that the light now there be moved nearer the Bilton residence.

By Alderman Schick—that the board of public works grade that part of Lincoln street, near Farrelly street, making it passable for vehicles enabling them to get to the residences on that end of the street. All that was needed was a little grading.

By Alderman Schick—that Stephen street was in bad condition and that the board of public works draw some stone in on the street and topdress and roll it from Foxhall avenue to Farrelly street.

Other matters taken up will be found elsewhere.

PERSISTENT IS CHARLES PROPER

And Again The Aldermen Refuse Him Permission To Operate A Bus Line From Rosendale To Kingston—Will Try Again.

Persistent is the middle name of Charles Proper of Rosendale, who for the fourth or fifth time was turned down by the common council Tuesday evening when by a vote of 7 to 9 the aldermen refused to grant him permission to operate a bus line from Lawrenceville to Kingston. The petition was rejected on the grounds that satisfactory bus service was being given by the bus line of Henry Myers.

The Proper bus petition has appeared so many times and been knocked down every time it appeared that it is becoming an old story, but from what was stated by Attorney Frank W. Brooks, who represents Mr. Proper, the petition will keep on appearing until the application is granted.

Attorney A. J. Cook, who represents Myers, the other busman, was the only one who spoke in opposition to the granting of the petition.

He said at the last hearing a petition had been filed signed by a number of business men down town asking for a bus service there. Since that Henry Myers had made the Strand terminal one of his stops, and Mr. Cook filed a petition signed by a number of the business men in that section stating that the Myers bus service was perfectly satisfactory.

There was not enough business for two bus lines according to Mr. Cook and he argued that for that reason Mr. Myers, who had expended considerable money, be protected in his investment.

Mr. Huber Speaks.

Frank Huber, one of the largest property owners and a real estate dealer in Rosendale, said that 90 per cent of the taxpayers of that village wanted the petition granted as more bus service was needed. This past summer had seen about 7,000 summer boarders in that valley. Every house had been full, and some were filled yet. If Proper was not given permission to operate it was giving Myers a monopoly.

Mrs. Egger, Mrs. McEnny and Mr. Batten, who run summer boarding houses at Lawrenceville, asked that the Proper petition be granted as more service was needed.

Why Permission Was Needed.
Attorney Brooks said that it was necessary for Mr. Proper to first obtain the consent of the common council before he could go before the public service commission. That was what Proper wanted. He said that at the last hearing Mr. Cook had stated that he could prove that Proper had made a statement that either Myers or he would own the bus line before he was through. Mr. Cook had not produced that proof but Mr. Proper had made a sworn affidavit to the effect that he never made such a statement, and Mr. Brooks filed the affidavit with the clerk.

Another Affidavit.
While Mr. Brooks was talking a young fellow leaned over and tapping Mr. Cook on the arm whispered in his ear. Mr. Cook began to smile and then as Mr. Brooks said down jumped to his feet and said that fortunately he was able to substantiate the assertion he had made by the testimony of Chauncey D. Rowe, who was the man who had overheard Proper making the alleged remark. "Put it in affidavit form," said Mr. Brooks.

"I will," replied Mr. Cook, and he drew up the affidavit which was signed and sworn to by Rowe, and which was filed with the Proper affidavit for the council's consideration. The Rowe affidavit briefly said that Proper made the statement "Either you or I will have this bus line" and that Mrs. Proper said to Myers "you will probably be working for us Mr. Myers."

Alderman Macholdt Speaks.
Alderman Macholdt wanted to know of his fellow aldermen the following momentous question: "Have we all lived up to our oaths of office?" And he answered it himself by saying "No" in a loud tone of voice. "Some of you aldermen have said when this Proper bus petition came up before that you would have to vote so and so on account of the voters of your ward, and asking one alderman to vote one way while he voted another. "Was that living up to your oaths of office? No. "If we play fair," said Alderman Macholdt, "and go according to our oaths of office we can't go wrong, and we will do what the people want."

Bus Committee Unfavorable.
There being no others to be heard the public hearing was directed closed, and the report of the bus committee received. The committee reported in favor of rejecting the Proper petition on the grounds that satisfactory service was now being given by the Myers bus line.

Alderman Martin's resolution to table the report was voted down by a vote of 7 to 9.

How They Voted.
The vote to adopt the report was as follows:
In favor of report—Aldermen Rodosa, Schick, Lemister, Parish Higgins, Myers and Purvis.—7.
Against adoption of report—Aldermen Leverich, Kirchner, Kullmann, Macholdt, and Martin.—6.
The report was adopted and Proper's petition again rejected.

Other matters taken up will be found elsewhere.

German House Pipes in Demand.
The early German "house pipes" are much prized by collectors. They are of formidable size, some of them holding as much as a pound of tobacco. These pipes are usually of porcelain, beautifully molded and decorated.

N. Y. PAPERS ARE SKEPTICAL

Over New Effort to Dry Up City—Greatest Haul of Illegal Whiskey Comes as Commissioner Haynes Arrives.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 7.—A new drive on the whiskey traffic of the United States which is said to be centered here, was started today when federal prohibition Commissioner Haynes with several lieutenants of his "flying squadron" arrived to "clean up New York."

Simultaneous with Haynes's arrival came the announcement that the biggest haul yet made by liquor agents had taken place with the capture of more than 15,000 cases of whiskey, valued at more than $1,000,000. The whiskey has been brought in the city on forged permits from Kentucky and Maryland distilleries. It was scattered on various docks when taken.

New York newspapers, however, are skeptical concerning the success of the drive, one paper saying that its "end will leave the city no drier, but much poorer."

LLOYD-GEORGE.

Many observers have wondered that Lloyd-George was able to weather all the storms of post-war reaction, which swept so many other leaders away—that he is still able to hold his own while facing crises of extreme gravity. No doubt a considerable part of the explanation is that he is courageous and optimistic as well as able. These qualities have been repeatedly displayed, and his recent appeal to the British nation furnishes an interesting example: "I want the people of England in this dark hour of industrial depression to remember that England has passed through worse times. We shall pull through, and I want to proceed in that confidence. It is a calm courage I want the British people to keep. Then we shall get through without troubles and keep on a steady path of common sense and experience. Keep up your courage and the world will come right."

Lloyd-George is also a logical thinker, with an abundance of good common sense, as was shown when he said that complete independence for Ireland would mean bitter civil war between the north and the south of that country. The six counties of Ulster are no less eager and determined to cut loose from southern Ireland than southern Ireland is to cut loose from England. De Valera falls to show either Lloyd-George's logic or honesty when he demands self-determination for southern Ireland and seeks to deny the same to Ulster for geographical reasons, although insisting that the question of geography has nothing to do with the settlement between England and Ireland. As Lloyd-George has pointed out, southern Ireland is fighting to bind Ulster as well as to free itself, which convicts the Sinn Féin of standing for self-determination only as applied in its own interests.

As to the moral effect of the movies the Chicago Journal of Commerce says: "Too often race and crime, lust and lack of integrity, are rewarded with happiness after a superficial and obviously impossible repentance in the last act. The convict turns into a hero, the libertine becomes a moral model, the vampire acquires amazing virtue, and the wicked husband or wife has a saintly finish." This is true, and it is true that the effect on immature minds is morally unwholesome, but pretty much the same can be said of no few plays of the speaking stage. The idea seems to be based on an old but questionable theory that the life-long evil deed may change in a moment on his death bed merely by accepting certain articles of faith.

Governor Miller's opposition to the St. Lawrence canal project is receiving approval of the people. Some of the facts the taxpayers have imbedded in their minds since the Governor talked to them are that the canal would be through a foreign country and thirty per cent of the expense would have to be defrayed by New York State. To involve the State in something that would cost the people millions was not to his liking, particularly when the barge canal is ample for all requirements.

There may be a few hot days in September, but don't worry. There will be a few cold ones in November. December and succeeding months that will pay up for all the hot days and warm nights we have had since June. September is one of the beautiful periods of the year and many prefer to take their vacations during this month. As a rule there is no more delightful time for short trips, and traffic on the railroads and boats prove that many have this opinion.

Those armed hands out in Utah who held up the Los Angeles Limited on the Union Pacific "looked" from male passengers only," but perhaps in this instance there will be no protest from "sufrace" passengers that women have "equal rights" with men to be robbed or that the "divorced" distinction made by the "freedom" was an insult to an "unmarried" sex.

The new slang exclamation, "my work," appears to mean that the statement or assertion which precedes it is without foundation, or in the language of the street, "ain't so." But like others of its breed, it will doubtless be extended in its application, conveying also the impression of disbelief or scorn.

Copyright 1921.
By ROUGHTON NIFFLIN CO.

What do you know about Nature subjects? Send any question of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper. Look for answers in this column.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Does the porcupine have any coat except quills?

2. How much national forest have we in the United States?

3. Do different species of birds always choose the same general localities for nesting?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. Do all birds lay several eggs?

No, murres and some other sea birds lay but one. Nighthawks, whippoorwills, mourning doves, hummingbirds, etc., lay two; the common thrushes, as the robin, etc., probably average about four; many game birds have a much bigger clutch, and quail have been known to lay eighteen eggs in one nest.

2. Is it true that some animals use their tails as signals?

Apparently the tail may in some cases serve as a signal, but whether this is really "use," nobody can prove. The white underneath the tail of some deer is said to guide other members of a herd when running; and the white "cottontail" of the common rabbit has been explained on this theory. The South American puma is said to lift and agitate its tail-up, to entice curious grazing animals within reach. Possibly the excitement of watching prey makes the tail vibrate, without conscious purpose.

3. What are land shells?

Land shells are the bony case of molluscs we may roughly call snails. They are terrestrial and herbivorous. There are a great number of species, but probably the common notion of a land shell means the bright colored mollusc of the South Sea Islands, or the species confined to the Hawaiian Islands, which are bright colored and prettily spotted with red, green and brown.

4,000 NEWSPAPERS HAVE QUIT.

Suspension of Canadian Paper Develops Astonishing Figures.

The Wellesley (Ont.) Maple Leaf has ceased publication. In its farewell notice, H. W. Kaufman, the publisher said:

"After a struggle of over twenty-one years, The Maple Leaf goes the way of most small country papers during the past four years. During these four years the cost of production has increased from 200 to 300 per cent, while the income is practically the same. This has caused the suspension or amalgamation of over 200 newspapers in Canada during the past few years.

"The reason the newspaper graveyard is so full is shown by an editor who has been investigating the cause of the high mortality. He figures out that in 1907 wages were at 100. In 1914 they had advanced to 178, and in 1921, the figure was 333. Newspaper from 100 jumped to 177 in 1914, and to 323 in 1921. Newspaper postage, which cost the normal of 100 in 1907, was 147 in 1914, and 337 in 1921. Ink was 100 in 1907; 200 in 1914, and today stands at 331.

"Editorial expense advanced from 100 in 1907 to 120 in 1914, and 241 in 1921. Miscellaneous expenses went from 100 in 1907 to 125 in 1914, and to 244 in 1921. By taking the average of all newspaper costs, it was found that while the average or index number of 1907 was 100, in 1914 it was 159, and in 1921 it reached the high mark of 411.

"More than 4,000 newspaper publications have thus gone out of existence in the United States and a corresponding number of them in Canada."

ZION CHURCH DRIVE.

Team Captains Appointed in Campaign to Raise $2,000.

The annual campaign to raise the fund of $2,000 to carry on the year's work necessary to sustain the Franklin A. M. E. Zion Church has been launched by the appointment on Sunday evening of the following as team captains: E. O. Clark, Edward McKinnon, Charles Cier, Silvester Vanderveer, Charles Jones, Robert Wade, Raymond Crispell, Carrie Crowell, Sarah Latour, Annie Wilkes, Norman West and William Van Dyke. The above will be recognized as official collectors, each being equipped with book and card stamped with the church seal, with the number of the team and the name of the captain written thereon. Other captains will be appointed later as the list is not complete, but as others enter in the race to secure contributions their names will be announced. A number of names of former captains have been dropped because of ill health, advanced age, or by reason of some not caring to assume the responsibility. The friends of the church who have been accustomed to contribute to the fund because of personal friendship of former captains are invited to continue their generous support, and make their contribution to any of the authorized captains or team workers, or to the pastor, as they prefer.

ON-A-JOB, OFF-A-JOB JIM!

Being a Story
Of how Jim got on a job and why he got off it again.

Jim went around to the newspaper office the next morning. "Know of a job in town where a smart young man is needed?"

"None," returned the social-dramatic-sport-financial editor.

"Only a temporary one," put in an older man, who was publisher as well as chief editor. "We need someone on the local gossip column."

"I'll take the job," the editor laughed. "Go to it, boy. Payment seven and a half cents an inch."

Jim hastened out. He had had no experience in reporting, but he knew that local news meant nothing more than "Jenny Smith's baby has five of her teeth," and "John Brown's folks are visiting him for the week." He wondered where he could find news. The police station, court house and town hall were doubtless covered by a regular man. His duty was to pick out the news from the highways and byways, and it seemed as hopeless as finding needles in a haystack.

"I guess I'll wander till I see a crowd of people in a store, and then I'll butt in."

During the course of the morning he made memoranda of several bits of local interest, and had reached James Wilson's pharmacy, a group of young people were chatting noisily with an attractive girl behind the candy counter. Wilson himself came forward.

"I'm from the Sun," Jim introduced himself, "and want to pick up some news of the neighborhood. Perhaps you will enlighten me."

"You might write that James Wilson is planning a sale on soaps, powders and colognes."

"I'm sorry, Mr. Wilson, but I can't put it in. You are giving me advertising, which you will have to pay for."

"Not if I know it. Young man, you are blocking the store. Get out."

Jim went, and found the young girl who has been serving behind the candy counter waiting for him. "I'm Mazie Wilson, and I've got some news for you. There was a dance at the hall last night. About twenty people were there—Joe Welsh, Ira—"

"Wait a minute till I write it down," Jim scribbled the names on his paper. "And Mazie Wilson."

"No, I didn't go. I wasn't invited. Ira Hall went. He's been my steady for a year but since we quarrelled he won't speak to me."

"That's a shame. Could I—"

"Oh, no, there's not a thing you can do," cried the girl.

Jim went on his way, feeling more and more sorry for the girl, and when he saw a hardware store with the name "Ira Hall" over the door, he entered. "I'm from the Sun. Hear you were at a dance last night?"

"Dickens of a time," growled the young proprietor.

"That so? Lots of attractive girls, weren't there?"

"None that appealed to me."

"Well, I just met one that struck me right. She'll be snatched up by some young fellow before very long, too. A mighty attractive girl—Mazie Wilson."

Ira leaned over the counter eagerly. "Mazie's all right, but she has one fault. She won't forgive a guy."

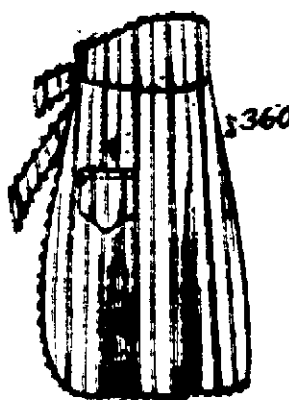

"Won't she? Why don't you try her?"

Ira glanced at Jim, at the counters around, and shot out of the door. Jim followed more leisurely and reached the drug store to find the two close together. "I want some news," he cried.

"Here's some. Announce the engagement of Mazie Wilson and Ira Hall."

SPINNEWEBER TO RUN BRIDGE BUS

Frederick J. Spinneweber, who now operates a bus line from Port Ewen to the Slightsburg ferry, realizing that the Rondout creek bridge will soon be completed, filed with the common council a petition to operate his bus line from Port Ewen to Rondout over the new Rondout creek bridge with a one way fare of ten cents. A public hearing was held in the matter Tuesday evening, and at the close Mr. Spinneweber was granted permission to operate by the unanimous consent of the aldermen. There was no opposition to the petition although Judge Henry McKenzie of Port Ewen had a few words to say. He said that it was rumored recently in the fair village of Port Ewen that if Spinneweber was granted permission to operate it would put a bar against all taxi service between Kingston and Port Ewen. For that reason five hundred residents of that village, which would some day become a city, had signed a petition asking that nothing be done to interfere with the rights of taxi drivers to operate. As he understood that the rights of the taxmen were preserved he, nor any of the other 499 signers had any objection to the granting of the petition.

Judge McKenzie, in speaking of the taxi service in Port Ewen, said that some of the streets in that village were in a "deplorable condition." He said he had listened with interest to a description of some of Kingston's streets when the aldermen had said that a wagon with a one hundred pound load could not pass through, and was reminded of the condition of some of the streets in his village. "Only a jitney could clamber some of the streets we have," said the judge.

Mr. Spinneweber is the first to apply and the first to be granted permission by Kingston's common council to operate a bus line from Port Ewen to Kingston via the Rondout creek bridge.

The Folly of Cheating Nature

Many people get the idea that they can keep their nerves on edge and their digestion upset year after year, and "get away with it." They sleep only half as much as they should—and never get properly and thoroughly rested.

If you tire out easily, if you are getting pale and anemic, if your food doesn't digest as it should, wouldn't it not be well to stop and consider whether coffee or tea is having its effect on you?

The caffeine and their found in coffee and tea are drugs, as any doctor can tell you. Is it any wonder that the steady use of these drugs sometimes causes serious damage?

If you really want to be fair with yourself, and give yourself the opportunity you deserve in order to do your best work, make up your mind to quit coffee and tea for awhile—and drink delicious, appetizing Postum instead.

Postum permits sound, refreshing sleep which builds strength, energy and endurance.

Order Postum from your Grocer today. Drink this hot, refreshing beverage in place of tea or coffee for 10 days and see what a wonderful difference it will make in the way you feel.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tin) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of large bulk) for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared; made by boiling for 10 minutes.

AUTO SMASHED.

Kingston Car Driver Said to be at Fault.

An automobile belonging to Walter Chatfield was badly wrecked Monday evening south of Marlborough when it was struck by a car said to have borne the number 748-148 and belonging to a Kingston man whose name was not learned. Mr. Chatfield was thrown through the windshield, but escaped injuries more serious than bruises and a bad shaking up. John Pollock, who accompanied him, was less fortunate and his head was lacerated and his hands badly hurt. The man driving the other car was uninjured. His car was damaged but not so badly as that of Mr. Chatfield, which was bent beyond repair. The accident was caused, it is said, when the driver of the Kingston car attempted to pass another on a curve west as Mr. Chatfield was coming in the opposite direction. There was not room for three cars and the Kingston car and that from Newburgh crashed. Under these conditions the responsibility would be on the Kingston car as the Newburgher would have the right of way.—Newburgh News.

NEW FERRY WAS BUSY.

Saugerties-Tirol Boat Rashed Over Holiday.

The police of Saugerties were kept busy over the holiday keeping order at the Saugerties and Tirol ferry landing, for at times there were between 20 and 30 cars in line and there were a few heated arguments as to who should be first in line. A Jewish woman in a hurry to get across, put a cloth around her head and when the ferry docked had her chauffeur drive past the line and insisted that Captain Richter see that her car got on first as she was sick and had to get across and see a doctor on the other side. She was informed that there were doctors here that would look after her, and then she went back to the end of the line. The ferry had to make an extra trip to take care of the automobiles in line.

Saugerties Driver Won.

At Hartford, Conn., in the grand circuit races Peter Blase, a bay gelding driven by Thomas Ackerman of Saugerties, won the 2:14 trot on Tuesday afternoon for a purse of $1,200, being third in the first two heats and first in the third and fourth heats in 2:11 1/2 and 2:20 1/4.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

LUCY'S TONSILS.

Now, there were two tonsils and they had made their home in Lucy's throat. Tonsils always make their homes in throats. They do not care for other kinds of homes.

They are all alike in that way. Now people are very different. Some people like to have their homes in country places. Others like to have their homes in big cities where there are crowds and crowds of people.

Still others like to have their homes in seaside places, so they can be neighbors of dear old Mother Ocean.

But Tonsils like to make their homes in throats. And these two Tonsils were in Lucy's throat.

One Tonsil was named Tom Tonsil and the other was Tom Tonsil.

"Hello, Tom," said Tom. "Are you up to mischief?"

"Indeed I am," said Tom. "I'm causing trouble. How about you?"

"Doing all I can think of and I've a good many pranks left to play, too," said Tom. "I tell you what we have a loyal and faithful little friend in Susy Sore Throat. She's a mean one. She's a good playmate for us. She's going to be with us today. Gracious me, it's surprising how Susy does turn up, and half the time no one knows from where she comes."

"She's going to bring her little half-brother along with her—you know—Ronald Raw Throat. They're very fond of being together."

"I think we'll have a fine party," said Tom Tonsil. "I feel puffed up with excitement already."

"So do I," said Tom.

"I tell you Lucy's throat is a fine home for us," said Tom.

"Yes," said Tom. "It's gorgeous. We have had lots of room to grow big with pride, and we have. We've grown big with Tonsil pride.

"Went to the Big Doctor."

"They say it's not nice for Tonsils to grow so proud because they're nothing to be proud of—but gracious me, that is just the point."

"Things that have no reason to be puffed up and proud are usually the kind that are most conceited."

"And those creatures who are modest and not conceited are usually the ones who can do things. You'll almost always find it is that way."

"That's the way it usually is," said Tom. "Well, we mustn't talk any more. We must get bigger and bigger and just let Lucy know we're making ourselves quite at home in her throat."

"In fact, she needn't think she has any rights to her own throat. We're the ones with rights."

"And don't forget us," said the little Adenoid cousins. "Don't forget us."

"We won't," said the Tonsil Twins.

"We won't forget you."

Along then came Susy Sore Throat and Ronald Raw Throat, and Carrie Cold came, too, and so did Clarence Cough. Oh, they all came and had a party in Lucy's throat.

Well, they liked the party so much that they came again and again. Sometimes they had little parties and sometimes big parties.

One day, however, Lucy decided to let her Tonsils know that they could not make their home any longer in her throat.

So she went to the big doctor who had promised to take them out and who had told her that they would get rid of those wretched little Twins.

It wasn't pleasant to think of getting rid of the Twins. They wouldn't come out by a mere kind word. No, they had to be cut out. Harsh ways had to be used with them. But Lucy was brave—and she knew that once she got rid of those wretched her throat would never again be the place for the Tonsil parties.

So the big doctor took the Tonsil Twins out and their Adenoid cousins along with them, and the Tonsils were red tears as they left Lucy, but they said, each to the other:

"It was all our fault for behaving as we did."

From Baby's Lips.

"Anny," said five-year-old Tommy. "I'll bet my pony can beat you."

"Why, dear, what do you mean?" asked the assembled relative.

"I mean in a race," replied the youngster. "I heard papa say that you could talk faster than a horse can trot."—Detroit News.

Small Capital.

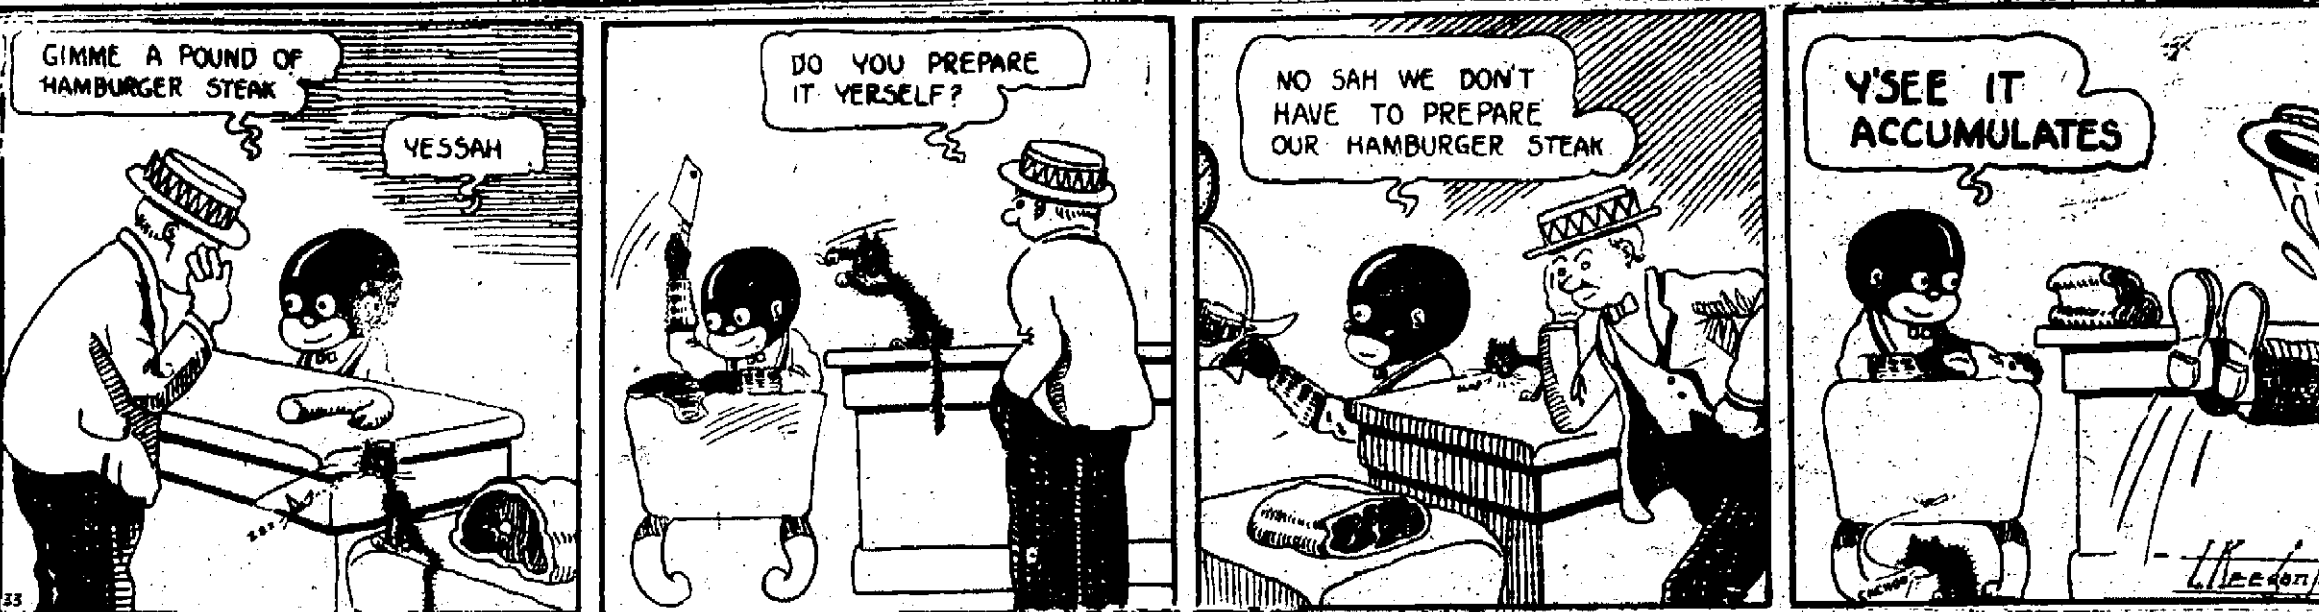

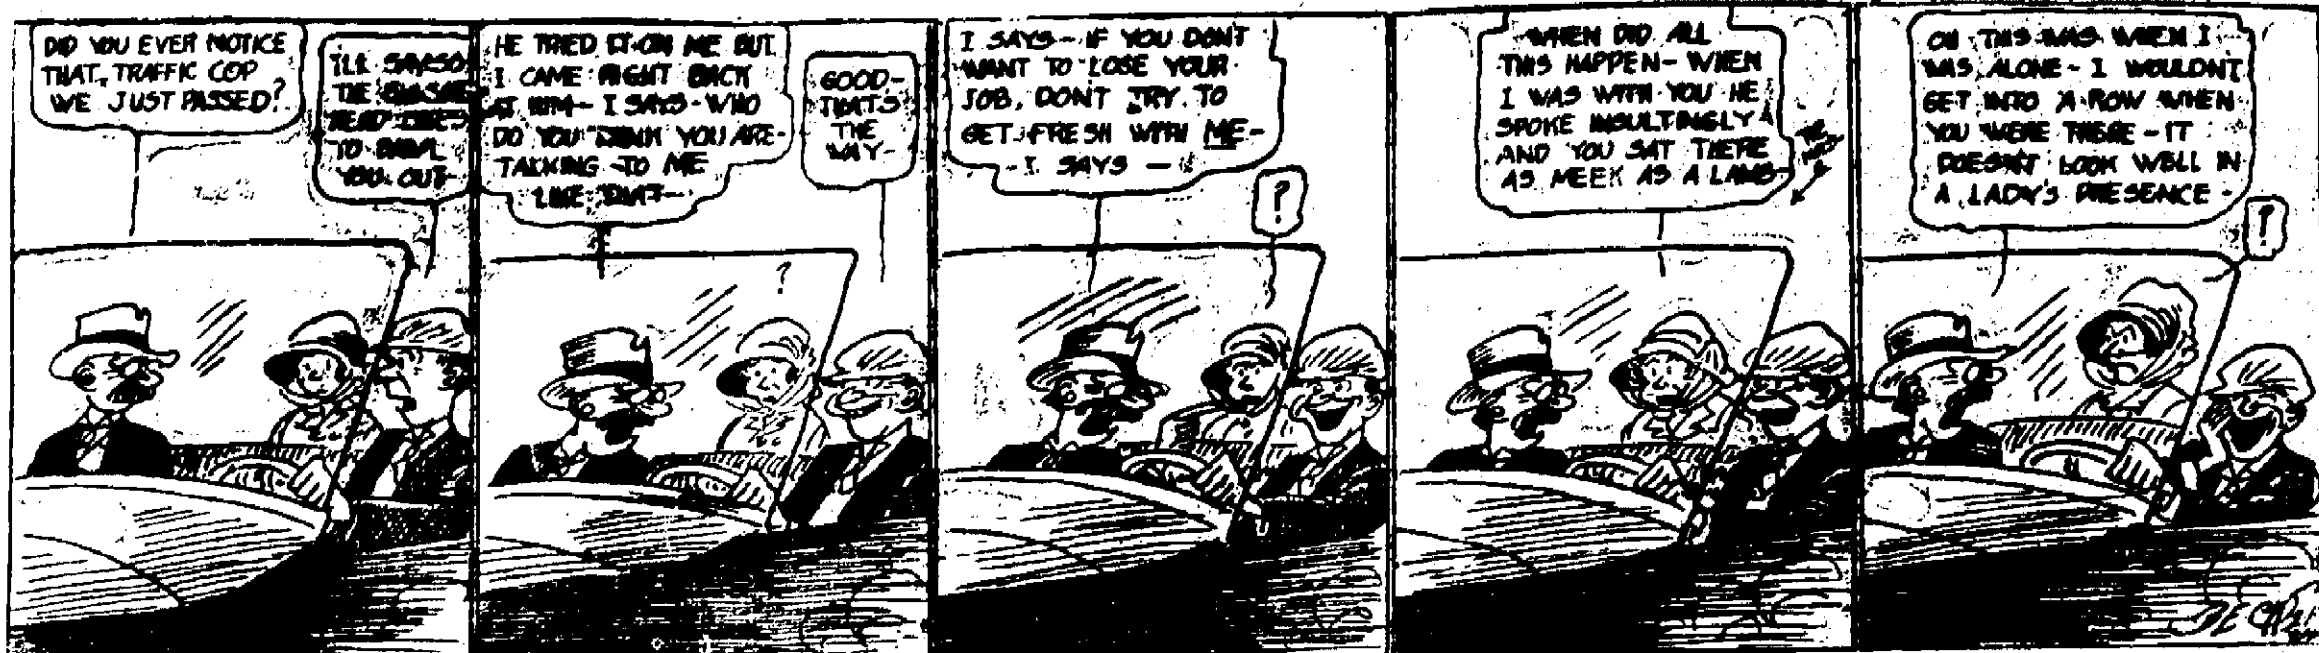

"When I began business on my own account I had absolutely nothing except my intelligence."

"Indeed, that was a small beginning."

Making It Easy for Grandma.

Edith was invited to visit his grandmother for two weeks, and his mother had equipped him with plenty of pretty clothes. After trying them all on, he remarked: "You better let me wear them to play in, so I can get acquainted with them, and then grandma will know me."

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

© Western Newspaper Union.
NED BUNTLINE, SCOUT WHO WAS WRITER OF PLAYS

Some of the old scouts turned their hands to queer trades when the Indian fighting days were over. Buffalo Bill was the owner of a Wild West show, Edgar S. Paxson became a painter, and Capt. Jack Crawford was a poet. It was left for Ed Buntline to add another to the list of unusual things for a scout to do. He became the writer of dime novels and the producer of melodramas equally exciting.

Judson was his real name, and Edward Zane Carroll Judson was the full title with which his parents burdened him on the day of his birth in Philadelphia in 1822. He became one of the boys who ran away to sea and when he was only thirteen he rescued the crew of a boat that had been run down by a ferry steamer in New York harbor. Soon afterwards he became a midshipman in the United States navy. Then the West called him and Judson answered the call. During the Civil war he was chief of scouts among the Indians on the western frontier, and after that he wandered all over the great plains as hunter and trader. He made the acquaintance of Buffalo Bill, Wild Bill and Texas Jack, and began writing his thrilling tales, part fact and part fiction, about their lives. Ned Buntline was the pen name he used in his writing, and as Ned Buntline he became famous.

Buntline believed that eastern audiences would be interested in plays based on life in the Far West and in 1872 he persuaded Buffalo Bill and Texas Jack to come East and take part in one of his melodramas. They arrived in Chicago one Wednesday and found that Buntline was planning to open the show the next Monday. He had rented the largest theater in the city, but none of the other actors had been engaged to appear with the two scouts. In fact, the play had not yet been written!

With characteristic energy Buntline set to work and in four hours he had written a play called "The Scouts of the Plains."

Buntline's dime novels were equally popular, and, in spite of the disapproval of their parents, the boys of the eighties and the nineties eagerly read the hair-raising adventures of "Red Ralph, the Ranger" and "Dead-Eye Dick." Buntline never was renowned as a scout himself, but he helped spread the fame of others, until in 1888 he followed the trail of many of the "redskins" who "bit the dust" when one of his heroes "trusty riders" rang out.

Formation of "Green Ray."

The so-called "green ray" is the green coloration sometimes seen for a second or two in the narrow slit of the sun's disk projecting above the horizon at sunrise and sunset. Some irregular dispersion of the rays of light has been assumed to account for it, but it is found to be explainable by regular dispersion. In the latter view the earth's atmosphere acts as a prism to form a vertical spectrum of the sun's light. A. Dwyer and G. Baugher, who have experimented at the Smithsonian cathedral, show that the blue and violet rays are absorbed in traversing the great depth of air, and the green, being thus left at the end of the spectrum, is the last color seen. With a telescope a green fringe around the upper portion of the sun's disk at sunset has been seen for ten minutes under favorable conditions.

HOT WEATHER BREAKFASTS.

During the sultry days of midsummer, which often last way into September, a light breakfast is the most desirable.

The delicious melons of all kinds make a most refreshing beginning for the morning meal.

With peaches, grapes, plums and other fruits.

A dish of plums or grapes with their own foliage for a breakfast centerpiece is especially attractive.

The bare table with simple, dainty runners of the blue and white Japanese cloth with a breakfast set of blue is a cool and restful sight on a hot morning, especially with such a centerpiece of fruit.

A common practice in many hotels, and often in the home, is to serve cantaloupe or muskmelons cut in halves, and the centers filled with ice. The delicious flavor of the fruit is thus destroyed. The fruit should be kept on ice long enough to be well chilled, for it is most undesirable otherwise.

A dish of cereal (if one is fond of the uncooked variety) may be a different one every morning. However, most of us prefer a good dish of cooked oatmeal, cream of wheat, or graham mush once in a while for variety.

An ordinary custard pie will become a special dish if a cupful of minced black walnut meats are added just before going into the oven. A few marshmallows on top will make a pleasant flavor. Any meringue will be more attractive if a half dozen marshmallows are placed on top just as the pie goes in for its browning.

There are often mornings when a waffle or griddle cake will be enjoyed. Sour milk is much better for the cakes than sweet. Beat two or three eggs, separating the whites from the yolks, add a cupful of sour milk, one-half teaspoonful of soda, a little melted shortening, and just flour enough to make a smooth, rather thin batter. Cook on waffle iron or on a griddle.

A slice or two of bacon or slivers of broiled ham with toast and an egg, if desired, a cup of coffee or milk, with or without a cookie or doughnut, makes a very satisfactory meal for the average person.

Pills and Sorrows.
Among modern inventions that make for comfort a subscriber lists as two of the most important the capsules, now used for disagreeable medicines, and the wire screen used to protect our houses from disagreeable insects. Quinine, he says, was in the days of the Civil war the great medicine of the army, and it was taken by the troops with nothing to disguise its bitterness. "All that is past." The well-screened house, with its freedom from mosquitoes and flies, was unknown in "the good old days," and it alone is enough to make modern life worth the living.—Outlook.

Unhappy Plant Action.

There is a little woman that grows in the tropics which is so shy that, on being shaken or touched, it immediately closes up the delicate folds of its little leaves, and they remain tightly closed until they think that they have given their disturbers time to pass on and leave them alone. Then they slowly and cautiously open out again and presently all the leaves are flat as before.

The Rev. John A. Spencer, a Presbyterian minister, who was ousted from the church, accused of the murder of his wife, Emma Theresa Spencer, reads his Bible by the hour. Although he was in the company of another woman when arrested, Dr. Spencer maintains his innocence of any wrongdoing. Mrs. Spencer met death in Konkoni Bay, Clear Lake, Lake County, California, one night last July, and Spencer awaits trial in the County Jail at Lakeport, the first prisoner behind its bars since last February.

Readers of The Freeman may have noticed occasional advertisements of peaches for sale by L. M. Hermance of Ulster Park or read the cordial "Drive In" sign along the state road near the Ulster Park Church. Perhaps they accepted the invitation and drove in a quarter of a mile to Mr. Hermance's residence, where a road that was not nearly as good as it appeared to be, and bought peaches and were satisfied—glad they had read the advertisement and acted on the invitation. Anyway, this is what Mr. Hermance has to say about advertising peaches in the Freeman, with a few other remarks about the paper:

BOICEVILLE REUNION HELD

Between five hundred and six hundred people attended the Boiceville picnic at Lambert's Grove on Monday. Nearly all of them at some time had lived in the town of Olive and most of them were residents of the Ashokan reservoir basin whose properties were acquired by the city of New York. A large number of the former residents have become residents of Kingston; others reside at Woodstock, Ashokan, West Shokan, West Hurley and in the town of Marletown. Some came from their homes in New York city and New Jersey to attend the picnic.

Music was furnished by Virgil Winchell and Edward Cusack, and community singing was led by Harry M. Eppes of Accord. The Rev. Mr. Rittenhouse of Brooklyn made an address and was followed by Joseph S. Hill of this city who spoke briefly, after which Michael A. Meagher, who formerly resided at Olive, gave a number of interesting reminiscences. The day was thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended.

Disaster Had Big Consequences.
A marine joy ride that ended in disaster was the subject of a painting that changed the whole course of the world. After the Napoleonic wars, a party of colonists set out for Africa on the ship "Medusa." The sea was calm; the weather fair. There was much wine and dancing aboard. The captain turned over command of the vessel to an inexperienced civilian, who piled her on a reef. One hundred and fifty survivors embarked on a small raft. Untold privation ensued. The French artist, Gericault, painted "The Raft of Medusa" so realistically that Europe was stirred. Londoners paid more than $100,000 to see his picture. This canvas changed the whole trend of painting, says the Mentor Magazine.

COUNTY W. C. T. U. 1921 CONVENTION

The annual convention of the Ulster County Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held at Marlborough in the Presbyterian Church, on Wednesday, September 14th.

A devotional service conducted by Mrs. L. M. Weed of Kingston will open the morning session at 9:30 o'clock and will be followed by the annual reports of the officers, the president's address and the election of officers for the ensuing year.

There will be an executive session at 1 p. m. and at 2 p. m. the afternoon session will begin. At this session the superintendents of the various departments of work will give their annual report. Plans for the work of the ensuing year will be discussed and the memorial service will be conducted by Mrs. Edward Young of Milton. Mrs. Mattie Conine of New Hurley will tell of the progress of the work among the children, and Mrs. J. Wells Weaver of Clintondale, will report the activities of the Young People's Branch. All sessions conform to daylight saving time. There will be a box lunch. Mrs. Martha H. Bell of Milton, president of Ulster County W. C. T. U. will preside.

Much interest has been aroused in the Million Member Drive, and it is confidently hoped that reports will show Ulster county local unions have raised their quota.

A part of the memorial service will be devoted to the memory of Rosalind, Countess of Carlisle, president of the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union, 1909-1921, who has recently died at her home in England, after issuing the call for the eleventh convention of the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union to be held in Philadelphia, Penn., October 18-21, 1922.

Delegates will be appointed to attend the state convention to be held in Rochester, October 5-10.

LEGION'S RECORD ON LEGISLATION

Many ex-service men when approached and asked to become members of the American Legion have inquired why they should become members and what the Legion has accomplished. One of the many things which the Legion does is to appoint a legislative committee to attend to legislation which affects the ex-service man and during the past year many laws benefiting ex-service men have been made, largely through the efforts of this committee and ex-service representatives. Among them are the following:

The Martin-Baumes Resolution providing for an amendment to the State Constitution giving preference in Civil Service to veterans of all wars. To become part of the constitution, this will have to be approved by the people in the general election in November.

Chapter 42.—Making it a misdemeanor for any one not a member of the American Legion to wear the American Legion emblem.

Chapter 82.—Allowing veteran organizations to use school houses, when not otherwise in use, for conducting entertainments to which an admission fee is charged.

Chapter 133.—Giving the town boards in every county the right to appropriate not exceeding $200 for rental of rooms for the G. A. R., Spanish American War Veterans and the American Legion.

Chapter 142.—Providing a suitable service ribbon to be given by the state to residents of this state who served in the military or naval forces of the United States during the World War.

Chapter 143.—Making it a misdemeanor for any one not entitled thereto to wear any badge or insignia of any sort issued by the United States, the State of New York, or any of the counties with which we were allied during the World War.

Chapter 159.—Exempting real property purchased with proceeds of the pension bonus or insurance granted by the United States or the state of New York for military or naval service.

Chapter 283.—Giving town and village boards the right to appropriate money for erection of memorials to those who served in any war.

Chapter 315.—Providing for the commission to pay out the state bonus.

Chapter 326.—Authorizing cities of the third class to appropriate not exceeding $600 for Memorial Day observances.

Chapter 337.—Amending the state printing law generally and providing for the printing of 5,000 copies of the annual report of the American Legion.

Chapter 344.—Making the sum of $25,000,000 immediately available for the payment of the bonus.

Chapter 421.—Allowing counties and cities to erect memorial buildings and monuments.

Chapter 428.—Making it a misdemeanor to use the American flag for a receptacle for the placing, depositing or collecting of money or any other article.

Chapter 522.—Increasing the amount to be paid for headstones for indigent soldiers' graves from $50 to $75.

Chapter 589.—Providing that where a state or municipal employee while in service would have been eligible to promotion or to take production examinations, upon return he shall be given such examination and upon passing receive the salary equal to the medium amount for such grade and shall thereafter be preferred for promotion in that grade.

Chapter 590.—Providing that any State officer or employee who entered the military service after the declaration of war without consent of the Governor shall have the same rights as though he had obtained such consent.

Chapter 607.—Exempting from taxation real estate owned by associations of honorably discharged soldiers, sailors or marines devoted to patriotic and charitable purposes.

Chapter 619.—Giving the police commissioner of New York city power to re-hire charges of dismissed New York city policemen who served in the military or naval forces of the United States during the World War.

Chapter 643.—Incorporating the State Veterans Relief Fund with Legion men as the incorporators to assist the New York State needy veterans of the World War and their dependants.

Chapter 652.—Providing for restoration of former Civil Service employees who entered the federal military service and where such employees resigned their positions on entering federal military service.

Chapter 654.—Providing that where a man in the federal military service was notified of his appointment to a position in the State Civil Service and another was appointed due to his inability to accept, the time of the appointment of any other person to such position shall be counted as part of the term of Civil Service entitling such veteran to all the rights of pension, privilege or immunity except compensation for such period.

Chapter 656.—Providing that each teacher in the State shall receive a certificate of qualifications which shall among other things show that such teacher is loyal to the Government of the United States.

Chapter 702.—Granting preference to disabled veterans in Civil Service examinations on original appointment with the proviso that all veterans shall receive the same credit for their service and where a veteran and a non-veteran receive the same mark, the veteran must receive the appointment.

"Accidents."
An accident is literally an embrace. The term is generally applied to a ceremony of salutation which marks the conferring of a knighthood or similar distinction.

There is One Thing Sure--To be Fashionable Your Suit Must be Fur Trimmed

It's the only arbitrary dictate of fashions. You may have your suit straight as the proverbial match; or you may have it copied from the basques of Spanish or Italian 17th Century Dress—but it must have fur—fur for the collar and cuffs—fur, perhaps, for the bottom of the coat, fur in folds and panels, upon the skirt and coat, fur everywhere—the furrier, the smarter.

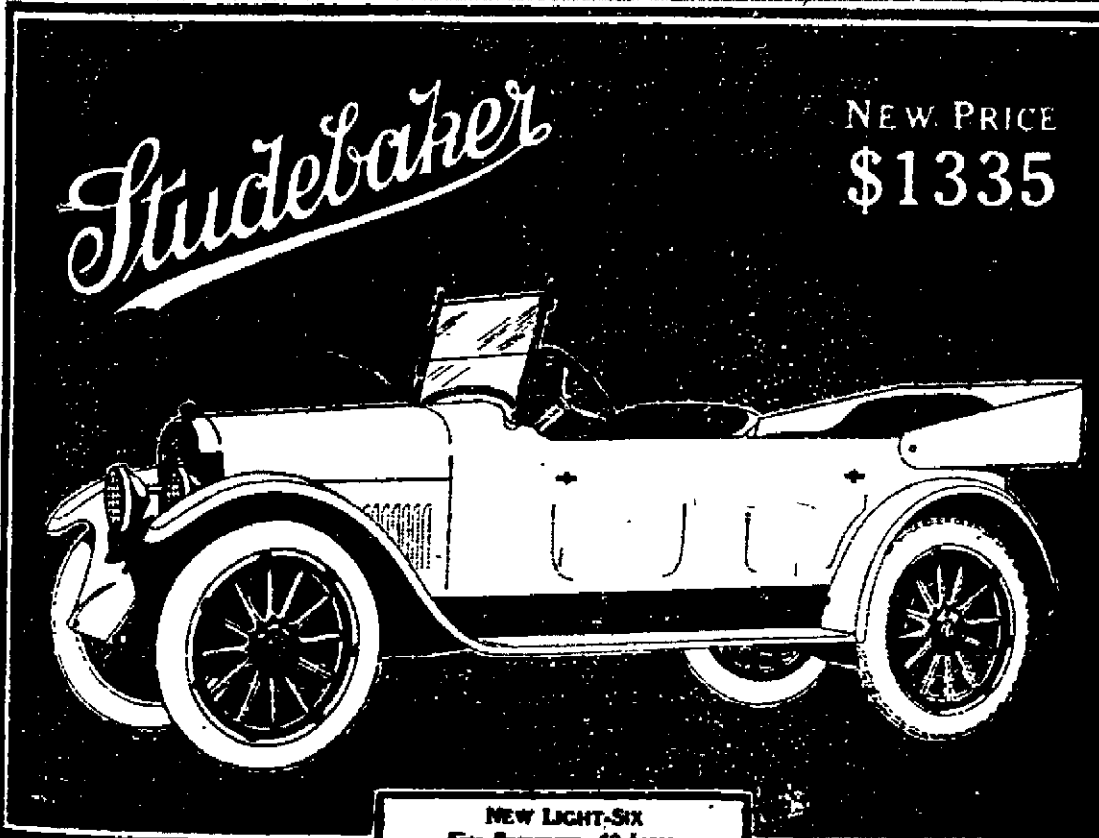

Note the fine quality, and the harmonious blending of the furs used on the suits in our smart collection.

New suit materials are mostly—Yalama, Tricotine, Gabardine, Velour-de-Laine and Velour.

Coats vary in length from 30 inches to the 3-4 lengths. Most are fur trimmed—some are plain tailored. Prices of the suits now in range from . . . . $29.50 to $125.00

KINGSTON IS AWARDED GAMES

At a meeting of the managers of the Hudson Valley Semi-Professional Baseball League, held at the Elks Club here Tuesday afternoon, both Labor Day games with Newburgh were awarded to Kingston as Newburgh used players in both games who were not named in the submitted eligibility list. Manager Gerkin of Newburgh was anxious to retain the services of Pitcher O'Malley, who proved too much of a nut for the Colonials to crack Labor Day afternoon, but the other managers considered "O'Malley" or whatever his right name is, too fast for the league, and he was "canned." Newburgh was given permission to obtain another hurler, however, as the Newburgh team has to be strengthened if it intends keeping in the league.

The Regular-Schatz game at Poughkeepsie which wound up in a row, will be discussed at the next meeting of the league, and some action taken.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 7.—The "Race of the Century," booked as the feature event of the Grand Circuit meeting here, was raced and completed here Tuesday afternoon. In the first heat, Allen, driving Single G., went into the lead at the word but was content with a slight margin all the way around to the stretch. The horses went to the half in 1:03 1/4 and in the race home Peter Manning was the stronger. They came the last quarter in 28 3/4 seconds. In the second heat, Allen trailed with Single G. and the half mile post was reached in 1:06 1/2. This time Allen attempted to brush the trotter but Murphy won easily. The last quarter was raced in 28 seconds flat.

SOVIET STRAINS TO HELP STARVING

By Telegram to The Freeman. Moscow, Sept. 7.—The soviet government is arranging to "help the starving week" for which a call was issued today to the people all over Russia.

The economic council has decided to place all electrical works in the hands of private enterprises on a co-operative basis. The authorities lately have been hiring former owners of factories to assist in the re-starting of industries, but tremendous amounts of money are needed for this purpose and the enlisting of private capital was found advisable.

An eye-witness of the famines in Persia and India writes to a Bolshevik newspaper that the misery in those countries is trifling in comparison to that of the Volga district. "I recall," he wrote, "the scenes I saw in the Persian famine when thousands were camping on the ground, eating roots, weeping and wailing and shouting for bread. The starving Russians are different. Among them prevails an oppressive apathy. They starve silently."

"What do the unfortunates in Samara eat? I saw them devour something like greenish clay which is bitter and pricks the gum. They scratched their mouths frantically as they ate and one could hear the stuff crackle between their teeth. It leaves the mouth full of earth and paste which they have to spit out after they have derived the bitter, poisonous juice. This is the 'hunger bread' which thousands eat daily. It consists of bark, grass and earth."

The first refugees arriving here in Moscow from the famine area continue even the few doubters that are left of the reality of the misery. Only few of the refugees are strong enough to make the whole way. They approach Moscow with wretched ponies that are skeletons or sitting in carts begging alms. At the very first sight of them one is convinced that Russia is absolutely lost without relief from abroad.

News of foreign relief is, however, awaited with no little distrust, especially in official soviet circles where the danger of meddling with the soviet government's affairs, especially on the part of the French is feared.

HOTEL WOODRUFF BURNS.

Firemen Make Quick Run But Had No Equipment.

The Hotel Woodruff at Upton, Green county, which recently was purchased by Mayer Cohen of New York city, was burned to the ground Monday night, together with a store adjoining it and all outbuildings. Very little furniture of the hotel was saved. Two horses and three cows in a nearby barn were burned. Osborn Hose Company of Catskill was attending the fireman's tournament at Coxsackie. Its truck made the trip to Upton in twelve minutes but the truck was without equipment, having been taken to Coxsackie only for parade purposes. The firemen assisted in fighting the fire. One man fell from a roof, while working at the fire and broke his arm.

Smells Like Onion. The kullin of the Philippines and Malay Peninsula gives forth a strong aroma of onions, says the American Forestry Magazine, while the pau d'alto of Brazil is properly known as garlic wood.

AGAINST RIVER DREDGING.

Report Says Terminal Should Be Further Down Hudson.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Sept. 7.—The Federal Government would not be justified at this time in going to the expense of dredging the Hudson River from its mouth north 116 miles to Hudson, for a thirty foot channel, says a report of army engineers sent to Congress yesterday by Secretary Weeks.

The improvement would cost $2,332,000, the report said, and is "desired chiefly with a view to the development of an extensive lumber traffic from the Pacific coast via the Panama Canal to Hudson, where a large lumber terminal is proposed."

The district engineer said it would be economy to put such a terminal further down the river in order to avoid the necessity of dredging the channel to Hudson.

Keeps Metals From Tarnishing.

For protecting polished metals from tarnishing, a common agent is borax oxide. This is applied as a very thin film, but is claimed to exclude atmospheric oxygen completely. The film melts at 550 degrees to 650 degrees C. according to its composition. Steel remains bright even when heated beyond the melting point of the coating, as the molten salt forms a perfectly gas-tight cover. The coating is fire-proof, does not evaporate and dissolves any oxidized metal on the heated surface. It can be applied by dusting on as powder, or by dipping the article to be annealed in a solution in water or wood alcohol. After use the coating may be peeled off, or dissolved off in warm water.
